

Welcome to Paris and an innovative congress theme : chronic, resistant and recurring

This year AFVAC's Annual Congress will take place in Paris from 10th to 12th December 2010. The recently renovated CNIT at La Défense is the location chosen for our annual congress.

Under the world's largest self-supporting vaulted ceiling the new CNIT is not only more functional, organised and accessible but also features a new and improved interior lighting system.

The CNIT is also a lively commercial centre and with more than 40 shops and restaurants open for your well-being and comfort, it is an ideal place to spend some time during the Congress.

The new CNIT is here! Like us, you will be delighted with this unique place.

The multiple functions of the Organising Committee

The Organising Committee's task is to create a convivial environment to welcome the congress participants in

■ ORGANISING COMMITTEE

- Alain Freyche, President
- Jean-Louis Boulay,
- Gilles Chaudieu,
- Sophie Colomer,
- Françoise Delisle,
- Christian Dumon,
- Sylvie Dufour-Pierrat,
- Didier Fontaine,
- Eric Guaguère,
- Michel Lammertyn,
- Jacques Nouhin,
- Marie-Hélène Piette,
- Cyrill Poncet.

Alain FREYCHE

the very best conditions and to provide a suitable setting for a high-quality scientific programme.

It is responsible for organising the reception facilities, the commercial exhibition, hotel accommodation, transport, the congress evening, as well as planning the congress timetable and creating communication guidelines.

New reception facilities

The first contact with a congress is the reception... it's the first impression one gets and unfortunately things are not always perfect! Doubtless some of you will have memories of interminable queues in drafty or confined spaces.

That's why the Organising Committee and AFVAC's administrative team has given a lot of thought to finding a more functional initial reception procedure for congress participants. There's no

A NEW TEAM MEMBER

From left to right: Jane, Frédéric and Krystel.

■ Latest addition to the administrative team, Jane Fressignaud has joined AFVAC to help prepare the Paris 2010 congress.

She is responsible for translating into English all documents relating to the Congress (publicity, participants and exhibitors files) and relations with foreign correspondents.

Welcome Jane!

AFVAC'S ANNUAL CONGRESS

PARIS 2010 / LA DÉFENSE - CNIT / 10 - 12 December 2010

doubt that this new simplified procedure will make things easier and cut down on waiting time.

Internet facilities

This year internet facilities will be available to all participants during the congress.

Commercial exhibition all on one level

Planning a commercial exhibition is not an easy task and calls for a highly professional approach – there is no room for mistakes.

The CNIT lends itself to this kind of exhibition with one single space of more than 5,500 square meters. A space which will encourage exchange and conviviality.

Well chosen and reasonably priced hotels

A wide choice of two and three-star hotels is available, all conveniently situated close to the CNIT and reasonably priced. To make hotel booking easier, an on-line reservation site is at your disposal at www.afvacparis2010.com.

Low cost transport

An excellent rail, motorway and air network make Paris a central point for national and international travel. There's no excuse for not coming!

We need your presence to make this congress the French veterinary event of 2010!

We are counting on you!

A. Freyche - F. Roman

A GREAT CONGRESS EVENING

■ An evening at the circus!

This year we will be holding the Congress evening at the Cirque d'Hiver, reserved exclusively for us. The famous Bouglione family's latest show, entitled 'Prestige', combines thrills, emotion, laughter and fantasy.

The 2010 Congress evening promises to be a breathtaking show in a magical setting!

As in previous years, the Paris 2010 Congress evening is free for all participants. One more event not to be missed!

ONLINE REGISTRATION

begins on May 15, 2010

www.afvacparis2010.com